been successfully exited, making a significant return on investment; the fourth was completed in March 2015 and will seek to divest in circa 3 years.

David was an Executive Director on the Board of HTG Limited and a Non-Executive Director on the board of Atlantic Polymers Limited, prior to Consilia selling the companies. David curtailed his Consilia activities and the majority his international travel recently, with the aim of focusing more of his time on UK companies.

David was born and educated in Liverpool, before studying for his degree at Nottingham University. He is a keen skier and cyclist (having recently completed a 700-mile cycle from Bilbao to Gibraltar in 5.5 days).

At Linea Group, David will help to grow the business by bring a broader set of capabilities to the Group, and support the diversification of Linea service offerings.

Ian Chambers said, 'I am delighted with David's appointment. He has considerable experience in the international consulting industry and will add considerable value to Linea client base. 'This is a fantastic development which will enable UK and International clients to benefit from a broader range of capabilities and senior management expertise'.
