

Linea's Chief Executive Gains IFT Accreditation

Press Release

In order to become accredited, turnaround and transformation must be an individual's chosen path and prospective members have to satisfy evidence-based assessment of no fewer than three independently verifiable case studies, be professionally recommended by two existing turnaround specialists and undergo a rigorous interview with existing IFT members.

Linea's Chief Executive, Ian Chambers has become an official member of the Institute For Turnaround following successful completion of their rigorous application process.

The IFT is Europe's leading representative body for accredited turnaround & transformation professionals providing those suitably qualified & experienced with a recognised and unique accreditation.

Membership provides access to a sharing, learning and inspiring community of high quality professionals and ones whose influence extends far beyond its numbers.

The IFT's vision is to be the de facto voice of turnaround and transformation with members operating in situations requiring rapid, profound and radical change.

Linea is a results focused organisational excellence consultancy with a track record of delivering sustained superior performance that meets and where possible exceeds client expectations.

We combine the credentials of a top tier firm with the depth of expertise and flexibility of a niche practice to support clients in addressing their most pressing organisational issues through the provision of highly professional, innovative, customer focussed solutions which deliver expected business benefits on time every time.

With an exceptional track record of delivering multi-million pound savings for prominent Public and Private Sector clients, our Organisational Excellence approach provides the skills and capability required to support clients to maximise efficiency, improve quality and reduce cost.

Press Release Ends